

ENTREPRENEUR:

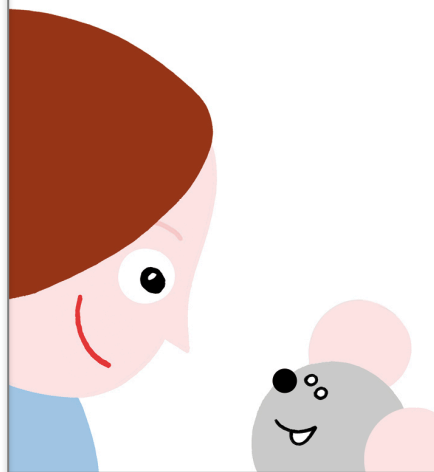

TRACKING 20 Euros

This is Julia. She is eight years old.
She lives with her parents and her older brother Max. Her best friend is a stuffed animal, called Lewi the mouse.

Julia and Lewi have a big secret:
They can talk to each other, and no
one can even tell!

Today is Julia's eighth birthday.
Many friends have come. Of course,
Lewi is here too.

As soon as Grandma's work in the flower shop is done
she hurries
to Julia's birthday party. Julia gets lots of presents.
As a special treat,
Grandma gives her a 20 Euro banknote.

Julia may decide all by herself what to do with the 20 Euro banknote. She thinks about it very carefully.

Please help her, make suggestions and draw some of them. What would YOU do with 20 Euro?

Julia does not want to spend the money straight away. She puts the banknote into her piggy bank.

Julia asks herself, “What will happen to the 20 Euro bill once I spend it?”

Let’s track the 20 Euro bill together with Julia and Lewi.

Now Julia knows what she wants to do with the 20 Euro banknote.

She goes to the zoo together with two friends, because they all love watching monkeys and elephants play. Her Grandma joins them.

Of course, Lewi comes along too.

Lewi whispers into Julia’s ear, “Write down the tracking number of the 20 Euro banknote before you buy your ticket. It’s the only way not to lose track of it.”

Then Julia's 20 Euro banknote ends up in the zoo's cash register.

Afterwards a family approaches the cashier. They buy their tickets with two 50 Euro banknotes. And what does Julia see?

The family is given HER 20 Euro banknote as change.

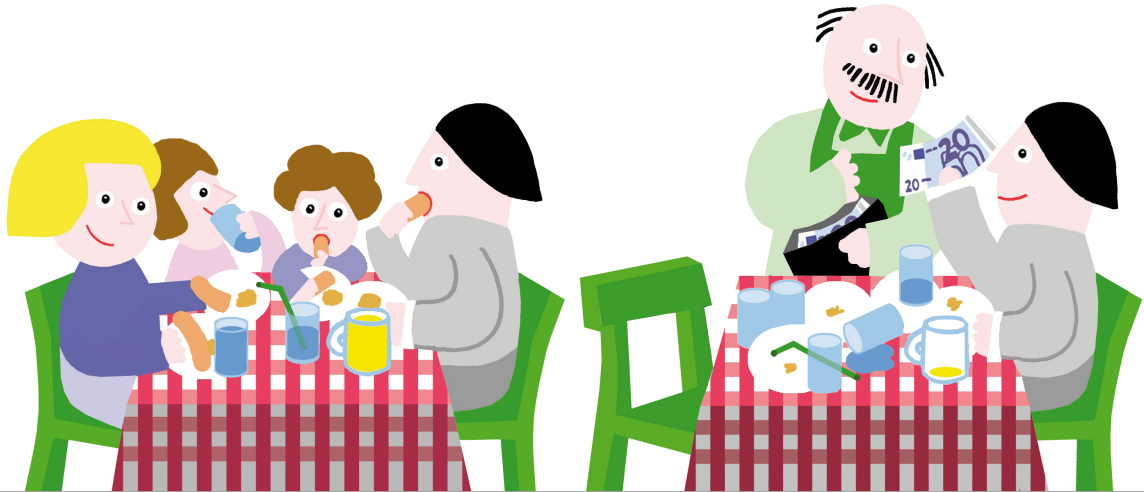

Here we go! Let's not lose track of the 20 Euro banknote.

All members of the family who received Julia's 20 Euro banknote as change are hungry. They decide to sit down to order sausages and drinks at a nearby restaurant.

They ask to pay the bill. The restaurant owner gets two 10 Euro banknotes and... Julia's 20 Euro banknote, of course.

Meanwhile, vegetables are delivered to the restaurant and suddenly Julia sees her older brother Max.

The owner takes banknotes out of his big pocketbook and gives them to the grocer.

He has a part-time job with the grocer delivering vegetables.

And what does Julia see?
Her 20 Euro banknote is among them.

As Max has worked so diligently, he gets his daily wage of 20 Euro.

After a few detours, Julia's 20 Euro banknote ends up in Max's wallet.

Max has a girlfriend Sara, and is very much in love with her.

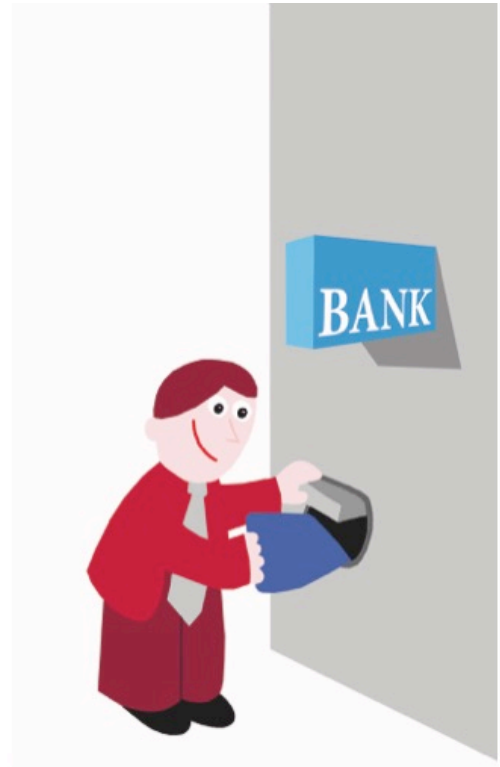

He then buys her a gift – a small stuffed animal. He pays for the gift with the 20 Euro banknote that Julia got from her grandma for her birthday.

Julia wants to know what will happen next to her 20 Euro banknote. She watches the toy store owner take the money out of the register and place it into a small bag. He closes his shop and walks to the nearest bank.

He then drops the money bag into a slot, so that it is safe in the bank.

Julia looks at Lewi and says sadly, “Now I will probably never see my 20 Euro banknote again.”

At the bank, the money is counted and added to the toy store owner's account.

The 20 Euro banknote ends up among many other 20 Euro banknotes stored in a vault.

A week later Julia and her father go to see a puppet show. In order to be able to pay for the tickets her father withdraws money from the ATM.

Among these banknotes there is also a 20 Euro banknote. Julia takes out the piece of paper with the tracking number of HER 20 Euro banknote written on it.

She is very surprised. The numbers match, and it is really HER 20 Euro banknote.

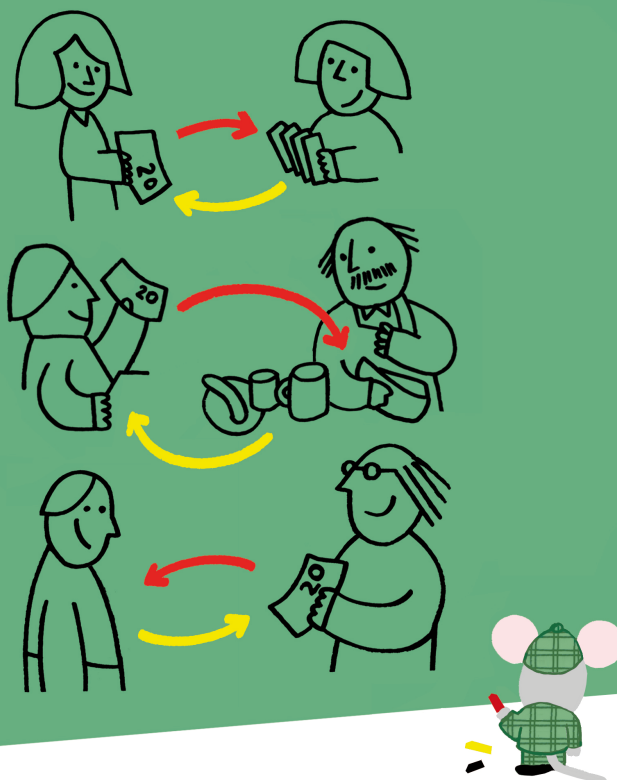

"I am so happy that I have been able to track my 20 Euro banknote!"

The banknote has spent a week of adventures. And what will the future bring?

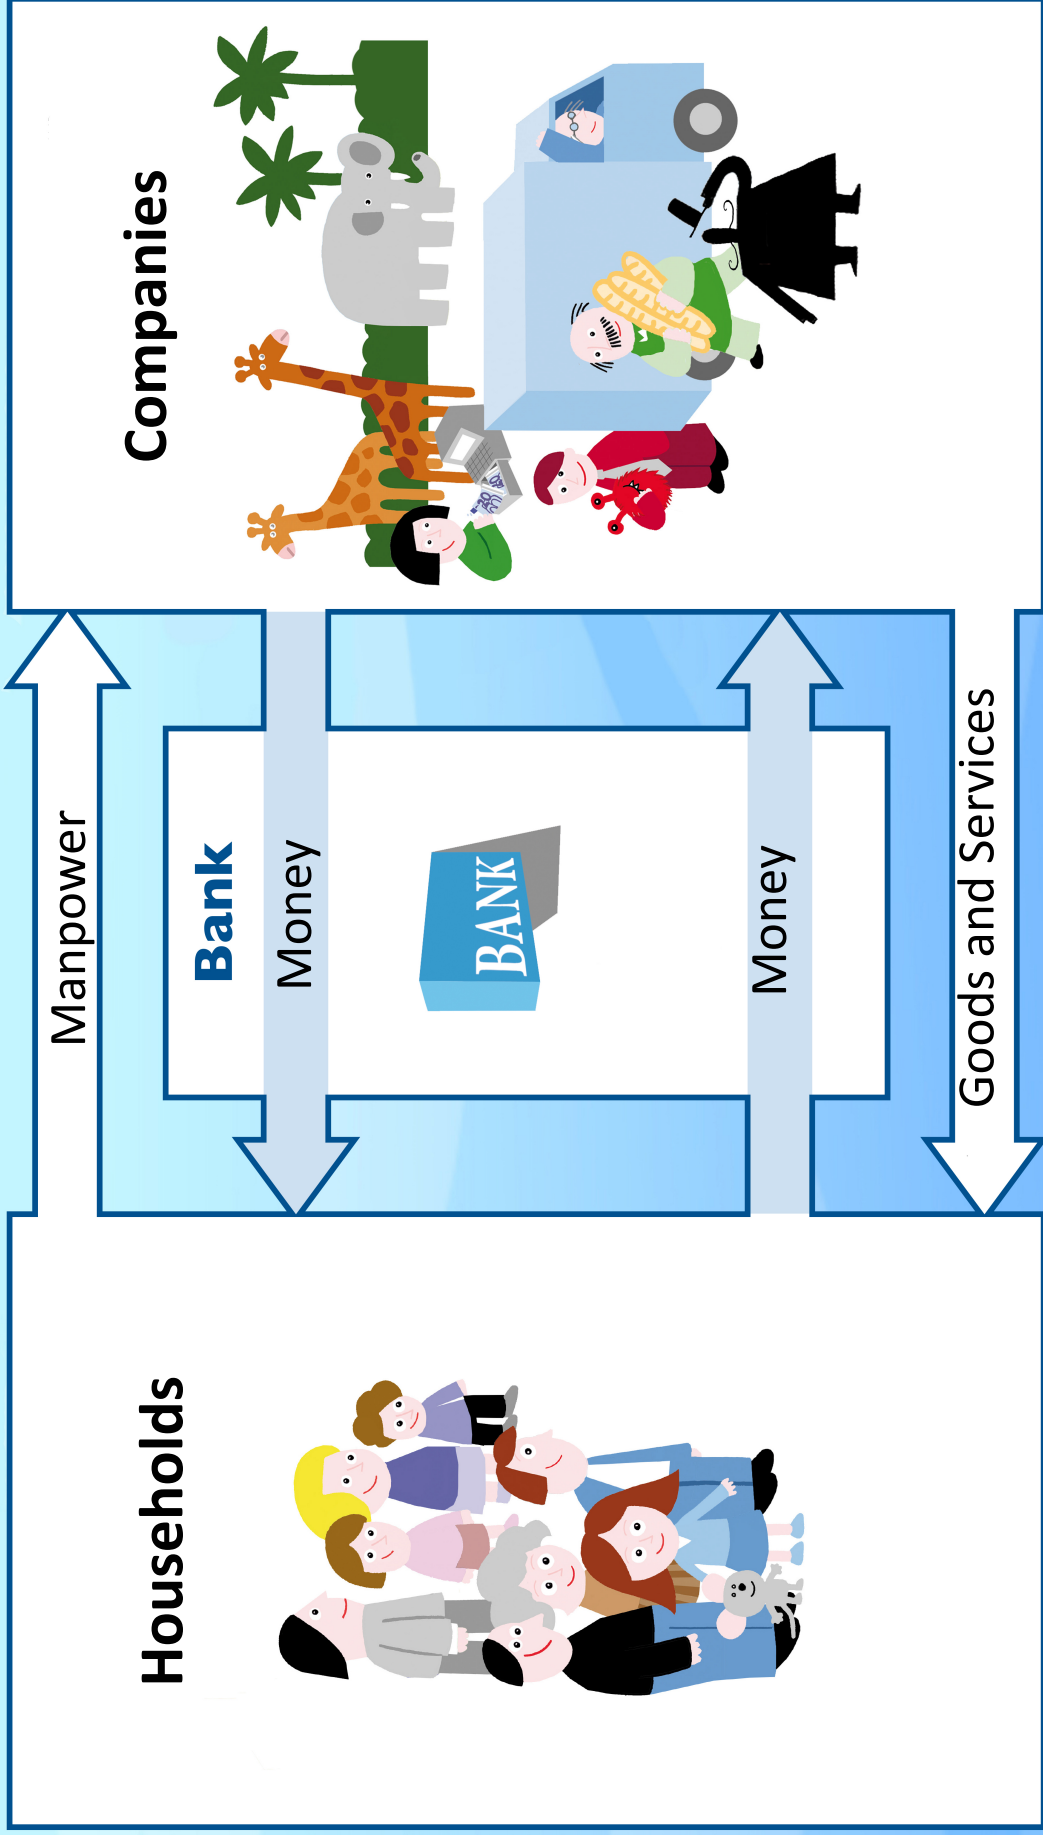

It's great that Lewi has always watched out carefully. He has even made sketches of how the 20 Euro banknote circulated from person to person.

So we can see how money can be traded for different items over and over again.

This is how the economic system works
